PUBLICATION CHARGE CERTIFICATION

PLEASE check one:

YES. We agree to pay $90 per page on support of the publication of this paper, in the total amount in item (05) above.

NO. We are unable to pay publication charges because _____

If you are able to support publication of your paper but are only able to pay partial page charges, please contact journals@spie.org.

Publication charges of $90 per published page apply to papers published in Journal of Biomedical Optics. Editorial acceptance is not contingent on publication charge support; however, unsupported papers require full subsidization by SPIE. While voluntary, these financial contributions help defray the cost of publishing research results and should be regarded as an essential and proper part of research budgets. The Society expresses its appreciation for publication charge support by offering the author a 10% discount on reprints.

Effective as of the September/October 2009 issue of JBO, papers for which publication charges have been paid in full will become Open Access one year after the date of online publication.
