Toderi awarded SPIE Optics and Photonics Education Scholarship

BELLINGHAM, Washington, USA – May 30, 2019 – Martín A. Toderi has been awarded a 2019 Optics and Photonics Education Scholarship by SPIE, the international society for optics and photonics, for his potential contributions to the field of optics, photonics or related field.

Toderi is currently pursuing a PhD in Physics in the College of Exact Sciences, Engineering and Surveying at the National University of Rosario (Argentina). His research is conducted in the Biomedical Physics Group under the direction of Dr. Bibiana Riquelme and Dr. Gustavo Galizzi at the Institute of Physics Rosario (CONICET-UNR). His studies include innovative laser based techniques, such as biospeckle, to describe the dynamics of blood components in order to arrive to better solutions for health care. Other interests involve nonlinear optics microscopy applied to biological tissues. He also teaches physics at the College of Biological and Pharmaceutical Sciences.

The Society awarded $298,000 in education scholarships to 84 outstanding SPIE student members, based on their potential contribution to optics and photonics, or a related discipline. Award-winning applicants were evaluated, selected and approved by the SPIE Scholarship Committee, Chaired by SPIE volunteer Jeremy Bos.

Through 2018, SPIE has distributed $6 million dollars in individual scholarships. This ambitious effort reflects the Society's commitment to education and to the next generation of optical scientists and engineers around the world.

SPIE is the international society for optics and photonics, an educational not-for-profit organization founded in 1955 to advance light-based science, engineering, and technology. The Society serves 257,000 constituents from 173 countries, offering conferences and their published proceedings, continuing education, books, journals, and the SPIE Digital Library. In 2018, SPIE provided more than $4 million in community support including scholarships and awards, outreach and advocacy programs, travel grants, public policy, and educational resources.
