

Press release

Olorunsola awarded SPIE Optics and Photonics Education Scholarship

BELLINGHAM, Washington, USA – June 3, 2019 – Oluwatobi “Tobi” Olorunsola has been awarded a 2019 Optics and Photonics Education Scholarship by SPIE, the international society for optics and photonics, for his potential contributions to the field of optics, photonics or related field.

Olorunsola is a PhD candidate in microelectronics and photonics at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville (USA) where he is currently the treasurer of the SPIE Student Chapter. He is a member of Prof. Shui-Qing Fisher Yu's Applied NanoPhotonics Group where he actively researches innovative semiconductor materials growth and characterization strategies for future nanophotonics devices. Olorunsola is the recipient of the University of Arkansas Doctoral Academy Fellowship, MKS Research Excellence Awards (SPIE) and Illinois Academy of Science best graduate research presentation. He has performed outreach and advocacy activities at the local and national levels and has published several scientific journal articles.

The Society awarded $298,000 in education scholarships to 84 outstanding SPIE student members, based on their potential contribution to optics and photonics, or a related discipline. Award-winning applicants were evaluated, selected and approved by the SPIE Scholarship Committee, Chaired by SPIE volunteer Jeremy Bos.

Through 2018, SPIE has distributed $6 million dollars in individual scholarships. This ambitious effort reflects the Society's commitment to education and to the next generation of optical scientists and engineers around the world.

To view other 2019 press releases as they become available go to the 2019 Scholarship Winners page or learn more about SPIE scholarships on spie.org.

SPIE is the international society for optics and photonics, an educational not-for-profit organization founded in 1955 to advance light-based science, engineering, and technology. The Society serves 257,000 constituents from 173 countries, offering conferences and their published proceedings, continuing education, books, journals, and the SPIE Digital Library. In 2018, SPIE provided more than $4 million in community support including scholarships and awards, outreach and advocacy programs, travel grants, public policy, and educational resources. www.spie.org.

###

Media contact:

Stacey Crockett

Media Relations Coordinator, SPIE

+1 360-676-3290

staceyc@spie.org